Guaranteed 2021 ATAR scores

Guarantee your place at UQ next year through our guaranteed ATAR selection scheme that’s available to domestic students applying for our undergraduate programs in 2021.

In this time of unknowns, we want to offer you the certainty that you need to make decisions around your future study and career options. For this reason, we’re introducing guaranteed ATAR entry thresholds across most of our programs so that you know the ATAR needed to gain a position in your chosen program next year.

Turn over to see the full list of UQ’s undergraduate degree programs and the associated ATAR guarantee threshold for entry. There are some programs that also have prerequisite requirements you must meet.

You will see a small number of programs marked “n/a” on the list. These programs have a limit on the number of places offered, and therefore it is not possible to set an ATAR threshold guarantee for these programs.

If you don’t achieve the guaranteed ATAR for your preferred program, we recommend you still include it in your preferences. UQ will determine the final ATAR thresholds in January and in some cases these may be lower than the guaranteed ATAR.

- Entry is subject to you meeting English standards, prerequisites and other entry requirements
- The guaranteed ATAR includes adjustment factors, which are additional points added to a rank. UQ offers a range of admissions schemes to adjust for special circumstances and subject choices
- If your entry score isn’t high enough to get into your preferred program, you may want to consider other programs at UQ that will provide a pathway into your first choice

UQ’s ATAR guarantee for 2021 entry is only applicable up until the main offer round on January 14, 2021.
Guaranteed minimum ATAR thresholds

The final selection thresholds will be determined in January 2021 and may be lower than the ATARs listed below. If your ATAR is below the listed threshold for your preferred program, you should still apply as applicants with a lower ATAR may still receive an offer into the program.
